Tayla made for football greatness

She has excelled on a national stage and now Tayla Harris is set to mix it with the tall poppies of women's Australian Rules football.

The Cashmere resident will fly out to Melbourne on Sunday to take part in a weeklong training camp, which will bring together the country's best female players.

"The top 40 women's footballers from around Australia get to go," said Harris, a member of the AFL Womens High Performance Academy.

"It's the opportunity of a lifetime. We'll get to play on the MCG too, so that's going to be really cool.

"When I got into the state team I thought that was the best thing ever, and then to get picked in the Australian team, and being so young as well, when I think about my football career it's something that I can be proud of."

The 15-year-old earned her place at the camp by gaining selection in the All Australian team for the second time, after helping Queensland reach the final of the youth national championships in May.

While Queensland lost by 58 points against football powerhouse Victoria at AAMI Stadium, Harris is proud of her team's effort.

The career of the AFL's "flawed genius", Brendan Fevola, is detailed in Fev Unauthorised, Roger Franklin's examination of the former Carlton and Brisbane Lions star.

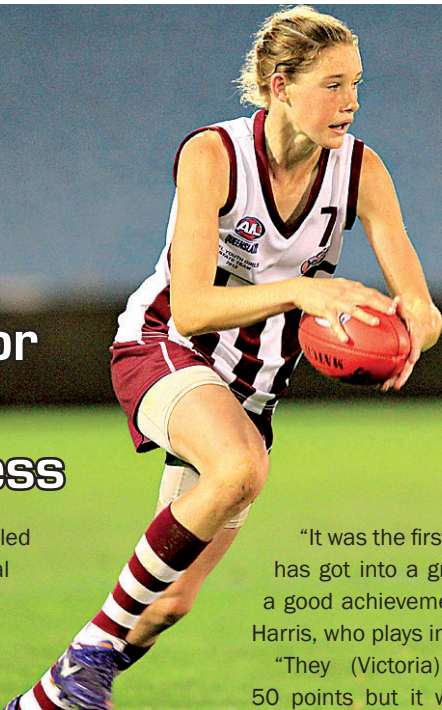

Thanks to Slattery Media Group, The Westerner has two copies of Fev Unauthorised (RRP $34.95) to give away. To go into the draw, send your name and contact details to: The Westerner Fevola competition, PO Box 5189, Brendale BC, 4500. Entries close 20 July.

"It was the first time that Queensland has got into a grand final, so that was a good achievement for the team," said Harris, who plays in the ruck.

"They (Victoria) beat us by about 50 points but it was still a really good experience playing against them and playing on AAMI Stadium as well.

"This year we prepared a lot better than last year because we had four months to do training and get to know each other.

"Victoria is packed with people who are really skilful... but I think Queensland in the next couple of years is going to challenge them."

The Albany Creek State High School student, who also excels in athletics and plays as a soccer goalkeeper for her school, started playing AFL a decade ago.

"My brother played for under-7s and I used to go to training and it was really boring (watching him train) so I just joined in and they asked me to play," recalls Harris, who admires the skill and professionalism of Brisbane Lions star Simon Black.

She played in mixed gender teams for the Aspley Hornets for nine years, before shifting to the Zillmere Eagles club.

Adding to her list of sporting achievements, Harris was named player of the tournament at the inaugural Queensland Schoolgirls titles in April, after leading Met North to championship victory.
