

A must for footy fans

By GRAHAM FISCHER

NOT everyone has, or perhaps can afford, pay television but for sport fans, the introduction of Fox Footy in 2012 was tremendous.

One of the shows introduced was 'Open Mike' where respected journalist Mike Sheahan interviewed the stars of football from the past to the recently retired.

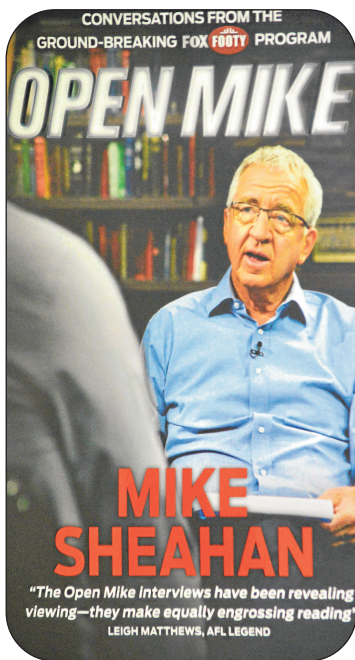

All the legends of the game have been interviewed by Sheahan in the 'Open Mike' segment including Leigh Matthews, Malcolm Blight, John 'Sam' Newman as well as controversial players Jason Akermanis and Phil Carman.

Sheahan also had the opportunity to speak with Jim Stynes and broadcaster Tony Charlton before they passed away.

The Slattery Media Group has fortunately compiled all the interviews in a book that is available for those who didn't have the opportunity see them on television.

Football fans will love it - there is no doubt Open Mike is compelling reading.

Story writing competition for all young people

DO YOU like writing stories?

To stimulate and encourage the literary skills of young people in our region, Friends of the Barossa Library are at present conducting a Young Writers' Competition and would like all students and young people up to the age of 20 to enter.

Children and young adults are invited to submit written compositions, up to the length specified, on any appropriate subject.

Three prizes will be awarded in each of four divisions: up to eight years of age (maximum of 200 words); nine to 12 years (500 words); 13 to 15 years (700 words); 16 to 20 years (1000 words).

Judging will be based on imagination, inventiveness, clarity of expression and grammar.

The judging panel will include members of the FOBL committee and the Barossa Writers' Group.

Entry forms are available from schools and from all branches of the Barossa Council Public Library.

The closing date is Monday, March 18, and entries must have arrived by 5pm that day at any branch of the Barossa Library. Late entries will not be accepted.

The winners will be announced and will receive their prizes at Carnival, the official opening event of the 2013 Barossa Vintage Festival, on Easter Saturday, March 30 at Seppeltsfield Winery. All the prizes will be presented at 12.30pm.

Kapunda Sunday Market is back

THIS year, the Kapunda Sunday Market have confirmed their markets dates as the third Sunday of every month.

After testing the waters last year with the new event's regularity trying various dates each month, it was decided that once per month suited the majority of market goers and stall holders.

"With many other markets in the region, we thought sticking to the third Sunday of each month maintains a consistent date and ensures the public are aware there is a market happening and stall holders will be sure they have a site in advance," said Bill Adams, Kapunda Sunday Market manager.

The new Trash 'n' Treasure section of the markets that runs from the car park also occurs on the same day.

"It's a good way for people to get cash for their unwanted goods through our Trash 'n' Treasure section of the market."

"For $10 they can sell their goods from their ute, trailer, truck or car boot," Bill said.

The next Kapunda Sunday Market is on Sunday, February 17, from 9am until 1pm. There will be entertainment, food and plenty of interest for everyone. If you would like a stall at the next market, please contact Bill, 0408 811 840 or email:
